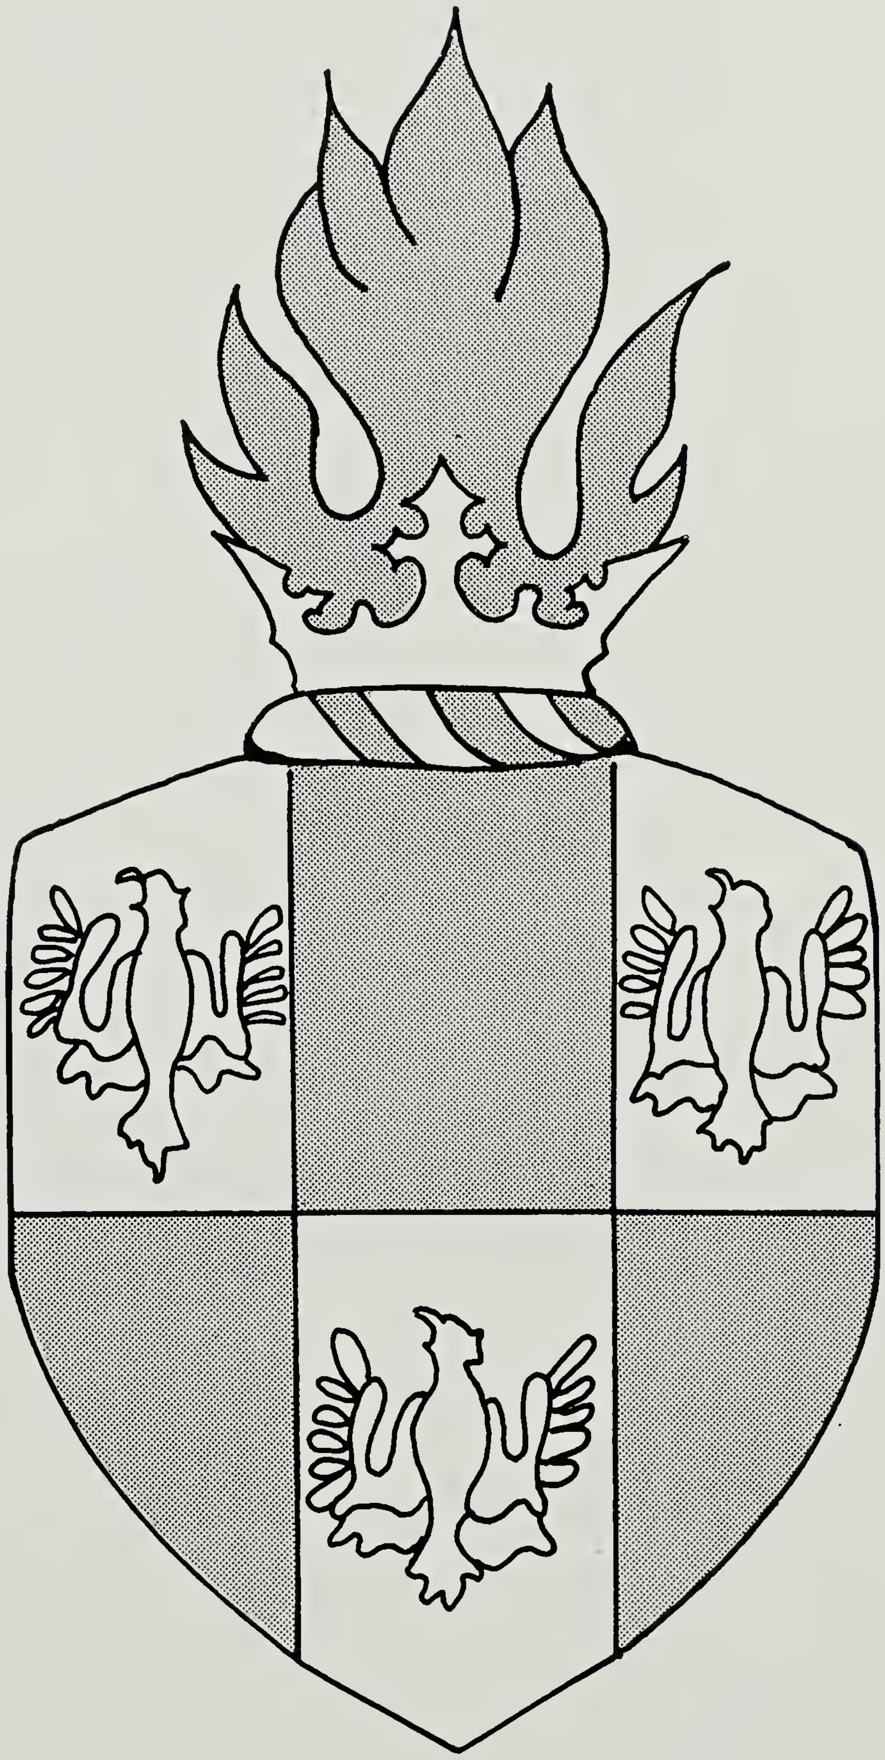
THE CAVALIER



Presented by

FOREWORD

In this first year of school at The W. T. Woodson High School, we have watched the cold, echoing halls fill with the sounds of happy laughter. As the empty, waiting classrooms have gradually become an integral part of our daily routine, the feeling of pride in the newness of our school has turned into the expanding spirit which has permeated each of our activities. We have seen the student body participating in the concentrated effort to produce the outstanding record of which we are justly proud. But most important, we have seen a group of unfamiliar students and teachers welded together to form a school body which has vied for top honors in all fields.

The name Cavalier was chosen in relation to the position of the Cavaliers in Virginia history and the student body's symbolization of the loyalty, honor, and support of the school. This yearbook represents the progress and achievement we have obtained in the past year. The Cavalier holds the story of our school.

MR. W. T. WOODSON

Mr. Wilbert Tucker Woodson has deserved to have his memory preserved by one of Fairfax County's most modern schools. Mr. Woodson's entire career has been dedicated to the betterment of educational facilities. He came to Fairfax County from Fork Union Military where he served as dean until 1925. In Fairfax, he began his career as a Clerk of the School Board, and for four years served as Supervisor of Schools. In 1929, Mr. Woodson was appointed Superintendent of Schools in Fairfax County. During the thirty-three years he held this position, he watched the Fairfax County School System grow from a small scattered array of country schools to the largest system in the state of Virginia. As the county grew, so did the educational facilities. Under Mr. Woodson's supervision the teaching staff grew from one hundred sixty-four to one thousand five hundred thirty-nine well-qualified teachers. Material improvements in the school system were not the only achievements of Mr. Woodson. His influence penetrated deeper than that. Mr. Woodson believed in the basic fundamental subjects for each child; however, he also insisted that each child was an individual, thus introducing a more personal type of education.

EMORY W. CHESLEY . . .

This being the first year of The W. T. Woodson High School only modifies the importance of acknowledging Principal Emory W. Chesley as the most valuable single person who united Woodson and insured her existence for posterity.

Having hand-picked his faculty and administration, Mr. Chesley continued to be a vigilant overseer. Personally, he designated the various sponsors of all the Woodson clubs as a result of their knowledge and experience in the activity as well as initiative and enthusiasm.

Likewise, Mr. Chesley worked very carefully and very conscientiously with the faculty and also the parents and their children. Mr. Chesley formulated a direct correlation with the Student Government, Student Activity Committee, and Student-Parent-Teacher Association.

Mr. Chesley became a familiar and friendly face seen everywhere and at all times around Woodson, partaking of many of the extracurricular activities.

Long before school formally opened on September 12, Emory W. Chesley had held several faculty meetings as well as student executive committee meetings. By the time students finally arrived the school was ready to function smoothly and efficiently.

Certainly, Mr. Chesley has served as the main factor in the unification of The W. T. Woodson High School in its all-important first year.

In August Mr. Chesley assembled the faculty for the first time.

THE W. T. WOODSON HIGH SCHOOL

"In order to form a more perfect union," the students of The W. T. Woodson High School worked together . . . moving toward fulfillment of goals while moving toward the end of the first year of our school's existence.

The administration gave us the needed encouragement, while showing us how to conquer the formidable barriers set before us.

In the classrooms of our school we tried new methods of learning new material. Relationships and ideas developed here will last all our lives and will influence our personalities continually.

Without the students, school would be merely an empty, lifeless building. Whether Freshmen, Sophomores, or Juniors, it is the students who make their institution a success.

Realizing that all benefits do not come from textbooks, the students eagerly joined newly formed clubs and organizations. Here we made new friends and had new experiences, while developing our personal aptitudes to their fullest.

History teacher Mrs. Helen Miller and her husband give an exhibition twist at the Key Club Dance.

Arlene Burke and Richard Payne alias Mr. and Mrs. Satterwhite celebrate Mrs. Satterwhite's birthday as Ronnie Bulson narrates the saga of her life.

Pat Rampy and Nancy Robb assist at the Mardi Gras coronation of Mary Margaret Marston and Paul Ramsey.

The W. T. Woodson's All-State choir included Mary Margaret Marston, Brian Schaible, Nancy Wright, Donna McLeod, Belinha Rowley, Carolyn Schlipf, Mike McBlair, Bob Garner, Ken Owens, and Ken Pennington.

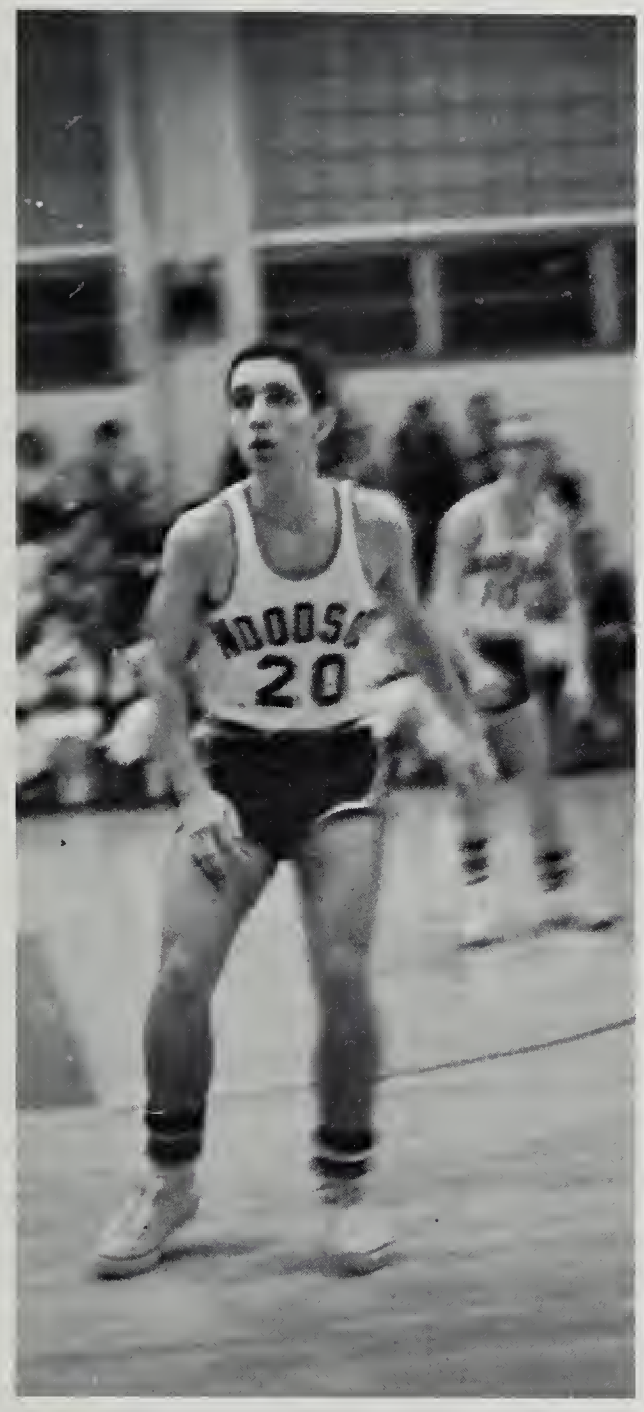
In any school certain diversions are needed to have a well-rounded whole. By supporting school activities, the student body at Woodson was drawn together in their common enjoyment.

The most literal of victories is victory on the playing field. Athletics provided the spirit so necessary to the unification of the student body; for, whether we win or lose, enthusiasm runs high at every sports event.

Another excellent mode of student unification is the sale of advertisements —without which our publications could not exist. Hard work on the part of many students created a feeling of pride in the victory gained.

Throughout the year, medium after medium served to unite The W. T. Woodson High School. In the process, we became better students, better athletes, and better people.

In the classroom English teacher Miss Miriam Watkins insures a sound academic precedent in her fourth period.



Varsity cager John Cabot helped to display the Cavalier's win-lose-or-die spirit on the basketball court.

Jacqui Rudd receives expert counseling towards pre-registration from Junior Counselor Miss Tucker Winn.

The Key Club's student selected "Ugly Boy" Paul Bittenbender is crowned by a bevy of cheerleaders—Barbara Phillips, Joanne Coakley, Connie Walter, and Joan Cushman.

to the final conquest in June,

The Guidance suite, bustling with numerous activities, is the source of counseling at The W. T. Woodson High School. The counselors' workdays are filled with student conferences, interpretation of test scores, and, for some, teaching duties. Besides providing various services beyond the major one of scheduling classes, the guidance office has information available on careers and colleges, achievement tests, and valuable advice for its willing students. The College Boards, "College Night," and "Spring Career Day" add the extra touches to the eventful highlights of the academic school year.

The W. T. Woodson Guidance Staff, counselors and secretary, are certainly worthy of the appreciation and praise of everyone.

How many of Woodson's young scientists today pondering over tedious experiments or exploring the inner secrets of platyhelminthes will be among tomorrow's ranks of scientific leaders?

With brand new textbooks and with rolls of accumulated maps overhead, history students lacked none of the superior educational facilities which were second nature at Woodson. All manner of visual aids, such as projectors for film, slides, and opaque material, was available to supplement traditional methods of instruction, and to vary and enrich material in the text.

LANGUAGE

Woodson's language laboratory with a complex system of earphones, microphones, control panels, and tape recorders emphasized her modernization of modern languages. French, German, and Spanish students used conversation much more than textbooks or the written words. The latter two were primarily supplements. For those with traditional leanings, there was available the study of Latin. Students found enough in the ancient language to obliterate any tendencies toward mental lethargy.

While still struggling with English, many students at Woodson also took advantage of benefits in studying a foreign language. Latin, French, German, and Spanish were available to anyone wishing to delve into the intricacies of subjunctive constructions, irregular usages, and elusive declensions. The additional study of a different language broadened the educational background of a student and gave him the ability to apply what was learned in other subjects, especially English. Cultural and historical material, inevitably inherent in a language course, enlarged the scope of social studies and gave a taste of international flavor.

Besides hard work, the foreign languages offered the fringe benefits of club activities and specialized studies, such as field trips. The language students enjoyed the distinction of personal achievement and were well rewarded for their extra concentration and effort.

ART

Offering the opportunity for each individual to develop his talents to their fullest, the Art Department played a distinguished role at Woodson. During class time students explored various techniques and mediums of expression. Throughout the year their work was in evidence, on bulletin boards, in classrooms and was featured in the publications. Combining learning with experience, the art students added much to the life of the school.

HOME ECONOMICS

The W. T. Woodson's extensive Home Economics Department afforded many future homemakers the opportunity for each girl to broaden her housekeeping skills. The whirr of sewing machines, the savory odors of freshly baked delicacies, and the classes in hygenics, nutrition, and baby care were all common aspects of the Home Economics program.

The combined classes of Misses Poarch, Polinger, and Gibson limber up with a few exercises.

P.E. students waited the whole first semester of their first year at Woodson before being able to use any of the gym facilities. Unfinished construction caused much anxiety, and the P.E. Department impatiently awaited completion of Woodson's vast and extensive Physical Education and athletic facilities.

One of Woodson's most remarkable aspects is that from the school building it is almost impossible to see the entire extent of Woodson's back fence. Such a well-developed and boundless athletic field is well worth waiting for. When finished, the facilities at Woodson will be the best in the country, and the school can look forward to being the host for many playoffs and championships.

In the meantime, P.E. classes have made good use of films, tapes, and student research to build a solid mental background for future physical development.

In addition to a broad academic program, Woodson has a large variety of subjects in the commercial field. Typing, notehand, shorthand, and general business are among the courses there are the special programs called Distributive Education, Vocational Office Training, and Industrial Cooperative Training. Under the D. E. program, juniors and seniors attend school half-day and then leave for work. The I. C. T. program provides a similar set-up for juniors and seniors who work as dental assistants and the like. Seniors with office jobs work under the V. O. T. system.

ENGLISH

That favorite subject of grammar-conscious students, English, seemed to leave its mark in other classes. Somehow, compositions always required finishing in algebra, and poem memorization was hastily prepared in French. A less impromptu correlation was the set up between junior literature and American History. American authors were studied in literature and history at the same time.

The literature studied this year included the great works "Great Expectations" by Charles Dickens, "Silas Marner" by George Eliot, and "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder in the Freshmen, Sophomore and Junior English classes.

Likewise, they read the poetry of such literary greats as Edgar Allan Poe, Emily Dickinson, Robert Frost, Sidney Lanier, Carl Sandburg, Ogden Nash, and e. e. cummings.

In particular the Sophomore English classes perused Greek mythology and Russian short stories. The Freshmen delved into the Homeric Epic poems "The Iliad" and "The Odyssey". Meanwhile the Juniors did a survey of America's great literature from the Colonial Period to the Modern Era.

Although still experimental, this course promised to see more widespread use in the future. While using modes of study, all math students were in a universal struggle trying to reassure themselves that two times two really is four.

ORGANIZATIONS

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Seated: Rick Munnikhuysen, Sharyn Forbes, JoAnne Coakley, Barbara Allen. Standing: Don Danbury, Steve Christensen.

STUDENT

Under the guidance of Mrs. French, the student government was organized at the beginning of the 1962-1963 school year. An Executive Committee of eight students was appointed by Mr. Chesley to take the place of student government officers the first year. One of the first things this committee undertook was the highly successful magazine drive. During Christmas they decorated doors and windows and sponsored a yuletide welfare drive by sending tray decorations and favors to Fairfax Hospital. The most important function, although, was the strong organization of a workable form of student government.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

An indelible precedent was established

JoAnne Coakley puts the stamp of approval on a campaign poster.

Mrs. French, Student Government sponsor, validates the ballot count of the election of S.C.A. officers for the coming year.

GOVERNMENT

The Homeroom Representatives were established as a means of communication between the student body and the student government. Representatives and alternates were elected from each homeroom at the beginning of the year. There were many foundations which had to be established, such as the cafeteria code, cafeteria blessing, and the constitution. The Representatives sponsored a homeroom door-decorating and tray favor-making contest at Christmas. Many long, time-consuming weeks were spent by the Constitution committee in framing the Constitution, which was finally ratified in March. The Representatives did an excellent job by bringing up the various questions, complaints and comments of the students that they represented.

Rick Munnikhuysen distributes copies of the Constitution to the representatives.

Once the school year got underway and Student Government settled down to a fairly regular schedule, the Junior Class began to organize and take on the responsibilities of a school leader. With the help of faculty advisor, Mr. Lehman, a council was organized consisting of elected representatives of the Junior English classes. Meeting regularly, this group formed committees to work on a Senior Class constitution, Senior privileges, ways and means, and activities. The council organized the sale of season baseball passes to aid the athletic department. This venture netted 20% profit for the Junior Class, which helped finance the Junior Prom.

INTERCLUB COUNCIL

Rick Munnikhuysen listens to committee reports as Iris Johnson takes the minutes.

The Interclub Council, headed by Rick Munnikhuysen, was formed to coordinate club activities. Made up of the various presidents, captains, and editors of school organizations, the council approves the formation of new clubs, sets club standards, and evaluates dances and other activities. Three committees made up of council members were organized: a standards committee, a bulletin board committee, and an attendance committee. The council also established an activities bulletin board where club announcements are posted. After the Student Government Constitution was ratified in March, the council became the Senate, striving to make Woodson's extracurricular activities an integral, important part of school spirit.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club, sponsored by Mrs. Springer, has many worthwhile purposes. One is to create an appreciation of the United Nations and its role in today's world, by promoting an awareness of the United Nations among the students and showing how each individual can fit into the program. Another is to sponsor the American Field Service International Scholarship students, thus creating an opportunity to meet students of other nations, and to promote mutual understanding among the peoples of the world through study and through personal contact with students and teachers of other lands. Committees were organized from the club members to keep the club informed of important U. N. actions and developments, to suggest and sponsor money-raising projects for A. F. S. scholarships and to plan programs for club meetings.

The proceeds of the contest were contributed to the library fund.

THE CAVALIER

The Cavalier staff, faced with many unavoidable obstacles, worked diligently to put together a yearbook filled with memories of our first year. Within the first month of school, the staff met, decided upon important issues, and started to work. The occupancy of the yearbook room, which was not completed until December, was long awaited by all. Although inexperienced, the staff was eager and determined to produce a standard-setting yearbook.

THE CAVALCADE

The staff of Woodson's newspaper, the Cavalcade, accomplished much this year under the leadership of Paul Ramsey, Editor-in-chief, and the guidance of Miss Spencer. Two mimeographed issues of The Cavalcade the first semester, were followed by five printed editions the second semester. Although the staff functioned without its own room, it produced an outstanding newspaper, read and appreciated by students and faculty alike.

SYMPHONIC BAND

Looking back over the first year of the Cavalier Band's performances, we find a group of musicians coming together to form an outstanding band under the direction of Mr. Buskirk. They added much enthusiasm during the football season by playing at halftime shows and pep rallies. Together with the choral department, the band presented the Christmas Concert at the Marriott Motel. As an added attraction at their Clinic Concert in February, three guest soloists and clinicians were featured, Richard Bassett, Woodwinds; W. Bramwell Smith, Brass; and Robert Zipp, percussion. As a finale the band participated in the District Festival and presented a Spring Concert.

CONCERT BAND

The Concert Band, training band of the music department, was formed to give students a chance to learn the techniques and theory necessary to become a good band member. Although it did not march in parades or demonstrate talents at concerts, it was an able and important group. Contributing time and effort during the football season by taking refreshment orders for the Symphonic Band, the group became a loyal and active part of the band department.

CAVALETTES

The high-stepping, attractive Cavalettes represented The W. T. Woodson High School at parades, pep rallies, football games, and at the first flag raising ceremony. In addition, as members of the music department, they served as usherettes at the band and choral concerts. By obtaining membership in the National Baton Twirling Association and completing the Woodson Majorette Handbook, they founded honorable traditions for future Cavalettes.

CHORAL OFFICERS

SYMPHONIC CHOIR

The choral department, under the direction of Mrs. Tabor, participated in the Christmas, Winter, and Spring Concerts and in the District Festival. The choirs have presented a well-organized music program, uniting the student body by combining the personality, talent, and enthusiasm of individuals into a proud, hard-working group.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club was formed to encourage and instruct interested students in all phases of dramatic production. The group, with their enthusiasm undaunted by the absence of auditorium facilities, presented a series of scenes entitles "Odds and Ends" in the cafeteria. The talented thespians also selected a one-act play, "The Summons of Sariel," which was entered in the Northern Virginia Drama Festival. The dramatics and members behind the scenes deserve the appreciation of the student body for implanting variety and culture into the school's initial year.

DEBATE SOCIETY

The purpose of the Debate Society—to develop competent research skills, to promote critical thought, and to exercise responsible speaking abilities—was accomplished by its participation in the Junior Varsity Northern Virginia Debate League tournaments. This year the league was split into a northern and southern branch with Woodson competing in the latter. From February 4 to March 18, the society took part in weekly debates with other local high school debate groups. Participation in the American University Invitational Tournament in the spring added a final highlight to the year.

ART GUILD

To promote student appreciation in art, and to add color and attractiveness to the school were the major objectives of the Art Guild. Their activities consisted of constructing a mosaic of the school seal, enhancing the bulletin boards with individual works of art, and sponsoring an art show. By traveling to see the Mona Lisa at the National Art Gallery, taking field trips to local art galleries, and touring the Metropolitan Art Gallery in New York City, the guild profited considerably in the pursuance of culture. All of the events proved to be fascinating and stimulating for the members of this organization.

extra-curricular experiences,

The hard-working members of the Pep Club strived to encourage school spirit, not only at athletic events, but also at all school sponsored activities. Working closely with the cheerleaders, they achieved their purpose through publicizing sports activities, chartering buses to games, decorating for the athletic banquets, organizing pep rallies, and sponsoring the first Halloween Hop. The major contribution, however, was the promotion and creation of school unity, a direct result of the display of strong school spirit.

F.T.A.

The purpose of the Future Teachers of America was to encourage more students to become teachers and to aid those who were considering teaching as a profession. This was accomplished by having students act as teachers, librarians, and athletic and office assistants, in order that they might secure a better conception of the pleasures, satisfactions, and labors presented by the profession. The members also observed classes in the area elementary schools in order to determine which level of teaching they would pursue. Being hosts at professional meetings held at Woodson and entertaining the faculty of The W. T. Woodson High School added finishing touches to an eventful club year.

Emily Reed and Rick Cantwell survey their accounts.

Organized for students interested in the medical profession, the Medical Careers Club provided a variety of interesting projects during its newly-chartered first year. Receiving instruction in the various phases of their chosen vocation, the members benefited by trips to area hospitals and local schools of nursing. In addition, films and lectures provided valuable insight to the responsibilities and satisfaction received in the pursuit of medicine as a career.

F.H.A.

The Future Homemakers of America provided opportunity for students interested in home economics to gain knowledge and additional experience related to this field. Their activities included giving a Thanksgiving Basket to a needy family, hearing a talk about Civil Defense, planning and hostessing a Christmas tea for mothers, welcoming a McCalls Pattern Company representative to speak on pattern and clothes selection, being instructed in the use of make-up, and learning the essentials of home and family management. Mr. Ladson, F.S.A. chairman, listens to Chuck Howard's plans for the Chemistry Club.

The Future Scientists of America is a national organization in which schools throughout the country participate. The W. T. Woodson chapter of the F. S. A. used the national constitution with individual officers in each branch.

Three groups were formed within the F. S. A. The Chemistry Club, sponsored by Mr. Ladson and Mrs. Opp, dealt with experimentation in all fields of chemistry. The Electronics Club, sponsored by Mr. Adams, concerned basically the radio. The newest field, Extra Sensory Perception, sponsored by Mr. Tlusty and Miss Byrnes, conducted student experiments in the fields of mental telepathy, clairvoyance and precognition. The year ended successfully with awards and scholarships given to individuals for their projects in each field.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club began its first year with the organization and ratification of the club constitution. At Christmas a party was given where the club members sang French and English Christmas carols, enjoyed refreshments, and played French scrabble. They sponsored the Mardi Gras Dance on March 18, 1963, and profits went to their treasury. Other activities consisted of decorating a bulletin board, listening to liason officers from the Pentagon speak on life in France, visiting a French restaurant, and profiting from the culture, history, and language.

Our active Spanish Club presented many interesting and enjoyable programs. A frequent sight was sponsor Mr. Farfan, who sang songs of his native Latin American to the accompaniment of his own guitar. Other programs consisted of slides of Spanish countries and lectures on Spanish literature. The club also held a Christmas party where a play was presented and a traditional pinata broken. Early in the New Year, Woodson was visited by a group of Chilean boys, who were guided through the school by the Spanish Club who were also hosts at a party given for them. A very successful year was concluded by a club dinner at the El Mexico Restaurant in Washington, D.C.

Distributive Education provides specialized training for students entering or already employed in retail, wholesale, and service occupations. The two objectives of the program are to prepare high school boys and girls for future employment in the producing and manufacturing of goods. The students are trained on the job for half of the school day; the other half is occupied by their regular courses, plus an hour of classroom instruction in D.E.

The Industrial Cooperative Training Program functions in much the same way as D.E. except that it trains students in the field of trade and industrial occupations.

ASSISTANTS

Many students volunteered their time and effort working in the various offices of the school. They aided the librarians in preparing for the opening of the library, ran errands for the office and guidance staffs, kept the medical supplies and files in the clinic orderly, and sold supplies in the school store. Much appreciation is due to these students for their welcomed assistance in doing the many odd jobs that seemed to pile up continually in every department.

FLAG CEREMONY

On Friday, November 16, 1962, the entire Woodson student body participated in the flag ceremony led by Mr. Buskirk, the Symphonic Band, and the Cavalettes. As American and Virginia flags were raised, the band played "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny," "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," and "The Call to the Colors."

The Color Guard was composed of members of the Civil Air Patrol at Woodson. Donald Dawson performed as leader of the group and listed Frank Healey, Richard Klick, and Bill Eliott as members of the Color Guard.

More flags will be added in accordance with visiting foreign students and teachers. As an important event of The W. T. Woodson establishment, the ceremony proved to be a memorable experience.

THE CHILEAN STUDENTS

January 15, 1963, The W. T. Woodson High School was host to nine guests from Latin America. One boy was from Colombia, while the rest, eight boys, and one professor of philosophy and languages, were from Santiago, Chile.

Sponsored by "Experiments in International Living," most of the boys are sons of senators in the Christian Democratic Party, and they attend private Catholic schools.

Arriving at school before lunch, receiving a complete tour of the school, eating paper bag lunches, and attending classes of chemistry, biology, and Spanish II, and U. S. History were a few of the activities they experienced during a typical American school day.

After school they were guests of La Luz Castellana (Spanish Club) where they performed for interested Cavaliers, parents, and Spanish Club members. The professor showed slides of Chile; the boys sang and played the guitar. In Spanish they sang their national folksongs, a rendition of "Boni Maroni," and danced with everwilling senoritas. The exchange of views, stories, customs and information furthered mutual understanding between the two nationalities.

FOREIGN TEACHERS

Senor Armando Farfan from Cuzco, Peru, gave valuable first-hand Spanish language instruction and sang Spanish ballads along with his personal guitar accompaniment for pleased students.

Madame Pingatore, an attractive French-Canadian, was a great asset to her French classes. She familiarized students with French customs, culture, history as well as the language and was sponsor of the French Club.

our foreign guests to the sale

Disregarding the disadvantage of not having an established foreign exchange student-teacher program, Woodson still benefited from members within the faculty and student body from foreign countries.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Patrick Pilsa, a cheerful Parisian lad, came to Woodson High to learn the language and customs of the United States. He attended classes here as a freshman for three months and returned home leaving many new found friends.

Robert Hreidarrson, already completed with his Icelandic schooling, was classified as a junior at Woodson. Taking English I and II, Bob did extremely well in adapting to the American language and customs. An apt art student and member of the art guild, his presence in Woodson added international flavor and interest to the 1962-1963 school year.

IT'S ACADEMIC
WRC-TV 4
NBC

On March 9, 1963, a trio from Woodson triumphed over both Walt Whitman and Thomas Edison High Schools on WRC-TV's "It's Academic."

Members of Woodson's winning team included Richard Payne (captain), Dick Healy, and Jim Mann. Alternates selected were Pam Goodrich, Manson Cheek, and Chris Worley. Mr. Merck represented the faculty, while other sponsors and coaches of the team included Mr. Tlusty, Mrs. Miller, Miss Watkins, and Mrs. Springer.

In the first round, when the teams are allowed to answer as many questions as possible in one minute, the teams all tied with 50 points. During the second round, Woodson was in second place with 130 points against Whitman's 145 and Edison's 100 points. In the third round, which doubled the points for correct answers as well as penalties for wrong responses, Whitman kept the lead by a 15 point margin. During the final "grab bag" round, Woodson shot ahead winning a commanding 125 point lead. The final tallied results had Woodson with 410, Whitman 235, Edison 230.

The team left elated with a $50 check for the school and was invited to appear again on March 31, 1963.

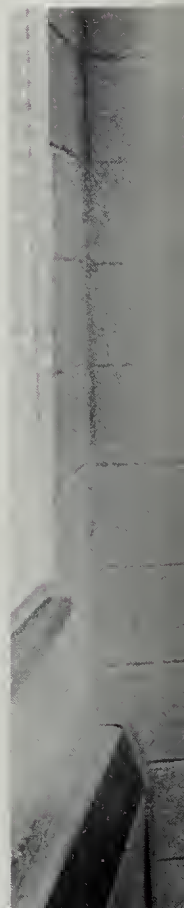
The Dollar Den
SPONSORED BY ARLINGTON FAIRFAX

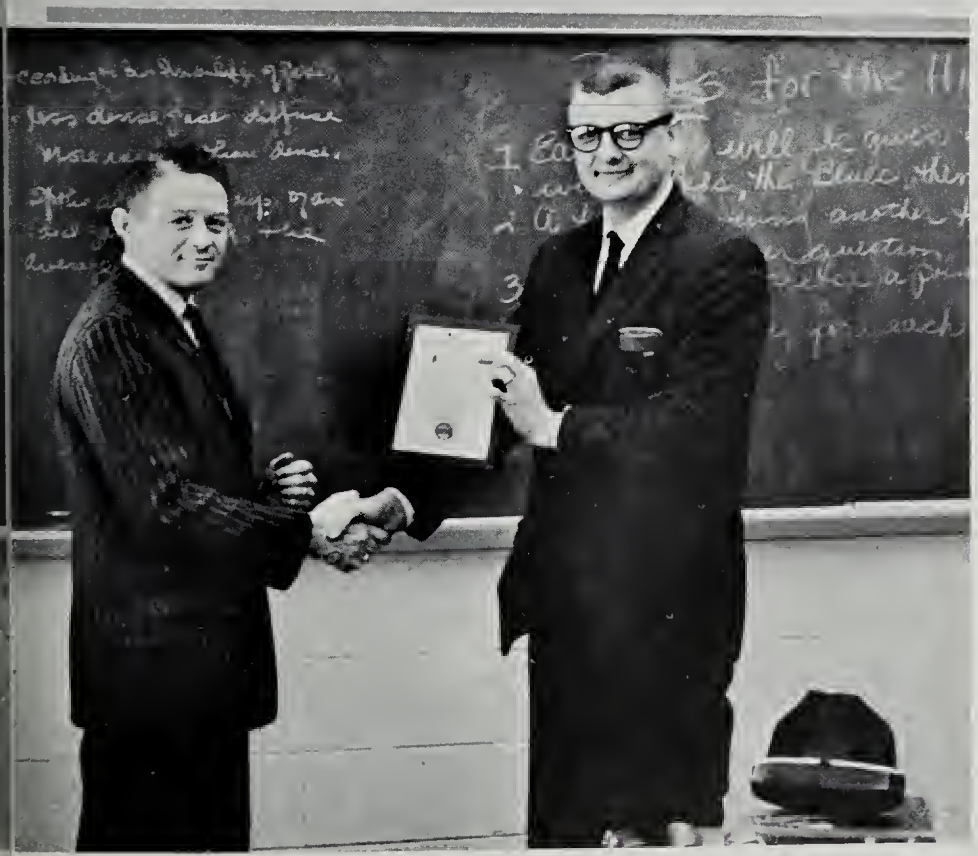
Spirited by a Name-the-Bank Contest with the reward of a $10 prize from the Arlington-Fairfax Savings and Loan Association, the savings bank became a growing part of The W. T. Woodson High School. "The Dollar Den," the winning name submitted by junior Judy Palmer, was an asset to Woodson's establishment and unification.



The SCA-sponsored Magazine Drive led by Jo-Anne Coakley got underway at Woodson on October 12, 1962, with the theme of "Service to the School" and a goal of $10,000 to purchase many of the desired "extras." To stimulate the drive, a contest within the student body divided the students into two teams—Cowboys led by foreman Fred Livingood with faculty sponsors Mrs. Springer and Mr. Volrath, and the Indians whooping it up with squaw Barbara Phillips and faculty sponsors Miss Byrnes and Mr. Clark. Colorful bulletin boards, skits, Indian headdresses, cowboy hats, daily winners, and mock wars provided interest and attainment of the $10,000 goal.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES

Being chartered as a member of the Future Scientists of America was a highlight of Woodson's science department activities.



On March 14, 1963, Back to School Night was held at Woodson. At this time parents were able to visit their teachers. Many parents also discovered that five minutes is not the staggering amount of time they thought it was to go from one class to another.

SPORTS BANQUET,

January 30, 1963, marked the occasion of the Cavalier's first sports banquet and dance. Parents and dates were invited to attend with the team members of three football, three cheerleading, and two hockey squads.

Welcoming all were team coaches and sponsors: Miss Harrelson and Miss Poarch, hockey; Mr. Billak, Mr. Knupp, Mr. Lehman, and Mr. Witt, football; Miss Gibson and Mr. Cunningham, athletic directors; and Mr. Chesley.

Team members were recognized as they received letters and certificates for outstanding performance and sportsmanship. The entertainment, dancing and refreshment, topped the delightful evening.

Among them were: George Moran, Sportsmanship (basketball); Dennis Booker, Most Outstanding Wrestler; Merry Staser, Most Outstanding Player (basketball); Bill Perry, Most Outstanding Player (basketball); and Steve Hudock, Most Outstanding (rifle).

The Key Club held

An interesting and unique fund raising activity initiated into Woodson by its newly formed Key Club was "The Ugly Boy Contest." During the week of January 21 through January 25, Randy Galbraith, Ken Pennington, Jaime Atherton, Paul Bittenbender, Wally Burke, Glen Furbish, Bob Sutphin, and John Withers, bedecked in gaudy outfits and carrying collection plates, jars, and hats, could be seen soliciting and canvassing the student body for "penny votes." Displaying the spirit and sportsmanship of the Key Club, the "Ugly Boys" waited anxiously for the night of the coronation at the basketball game between Falls Church and WTW. Paul Bittenbender was crowned with a dunce hat, and it was announced that the "Ugly Boys" had collected approximately $200. Hats off to the boys who belittled themselves for a worthy cause.

THE FRENCH CLUB MARDI GRAS

The first annual Mardi Gras Dance, sponsored by the French Club, was held on March 2, 1963.

The costume ball was decorated with all the splendor of New Orleans. Prizes were awarded to Craig English and Dee Burbach for the funniest costumes and Greg DeHaven and Nan Strickler for the most original costumes. Amid the confetti and balloons, Mary Margaret Marston and Paul Ramsey were crowned queen and king. The music was provided by a dance band led by Bob Garner and accompanied by vocalist Pam Farmer. SPORTS

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: The Cavaliers have gained many victories this first year in several fields. The greatest victory a school can have is that of a unified student body, which is one goal Woodson has achieved. Our Varsity Cheerleaders have done a remarkable job of building strong team spirit throughout the school. At each game the students began to feel more and more like a single unit as our Varsity Cheerleaders proudly rooted the Cavaliers onward to victory. On the football field, around the basketball court, and through the halls, the chants and cheers of Woodson High were repeated over and over with pride. There were no defeats in spirit, only victories, and nothing could shake our faith in team, or school. The W. T. Woodson High School has a good beginning and a fine set of standards that the students and faculty have established. The Cavaliers will be second to none, and thanks to the help of our Varsity Cheerleaders, the future looks very promising.

JUNIOR VARSITY: Our J.V. Cheerleaders were right in there this year, doing their very best to keep the morale of our Junior Varsity teams at its peak with cheers and unending enthusiasm. Through the fine efforts of every girl, our unmistakable Cavalier spirit rang out at each game, as the teams added victory after victory to our record. Each sport that presented a challenge to the teams caused the Cheerleaders to fight equally as hard supporting them. With pride in a job well done, they were always the first to say, "We're behind you team, we're backing you up!"

FRESHMAN CHEERLEADERS: The spirit with which our Freshman teams were cheered onward to victory was largely due to our Freshman Cheerleaders. The many obstacles that had to be overcome were hurdled with ease. The football season brought the sounds of cheers echoing through the bleachers and over the field. With basketball came a new challenge, appropriate cheers had to be learned. As the cheerleaders encouraged their team onward, the scores mounted. The Cavaliers are proud of their victories and join to say, "Thanks Freshman Cheerleaders!"

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The first W. T. Woodson football team began with a bang this year, by defeating the Lee "B" team 21-6. Sparked by the running of Captain Bill Perry and fine defensive effort Harold Smarr, our team showed signs of a championship ball club.

In the first meeting with Edison, we battled the new school to a 19-12 victory. Our offensive line showed strength and effectiveness as they opened huge holes for the running backs.

Our spirits were high for the third game with Marshall. Although this was true throughout the game, the experienced Marshall eleven proved too much for us, and we came out on the short end of the score 19-0.

Coach Billak gives a few instructions to his offensive eleven from the sidelines.

Looking forward to a comeback after our loss to Marshall, the Cavaliers fought their way back into the "win column" with a 13-7 upset victory over "W-L B" team.

One of our toughest games was against J. E. B. Stuart. But, as in true Cavalier style, we posted a score of 9-0 and another win. Two of the many fine players who held Stuart to a mere 99 yards total rushing were wingbacks Walter Burke and Ken Pennington.

Our last game pitted us against the Osbourn "A" squad. The game was filled with all the excitement of an eventful football game. Both squads fought desperately for a win, but at the final gun the game ended in a 7-7 deadlock. Bob Prouty, a key defensive halfback, kept the Osbourn offensive line bottled up by intercepting three passes and making many fine tackles.

Throughout the year Mr. Billak and Mr. Lehman continually improved the team with excellent coaching. Each member of the team did his job and fulfilled his responsibilities faithfully. The team, as a whole, deserves a fine congratulation for its outstanding season.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL: Plenty of determined work accentuated the efforts of the Junior Varsity Cavaliers for W. T. Woodson's first year. Mr. Knupp and Mr. Jenkins accomplished the task of building a forceful squad from scratch. Improving with every game and living up to the expectations of lively spectators, the J.V. team compiled a 2-4-1 record. Praise is due to these boys who will carry the football banner of Woodson High in future years.

The W. T. Woodson's first basketball team began its season as a fairly inexperienced but highly spirited team. The first test of the boys' ability to work as a unit was with Fairfax. Throughout most of the game Woodson led, but as the game continued, the older and more experienced Rebel team caught up and went on to win, 41-38.

The close loss of the first match seemed to rally the Cavaliers into the three game winning streak that followed.

Once again Woodson faced two older schools and again we fell. The first loss being with the Falls Church Jaguars 51-40 and the second with the Madison Warhawks 49-40.

The next two games were against the two new schools, and for the second time during the season the Woodson quintet defeated Marshall's Statesmen 65-59 and Edison's Eagles 47-44. George Washington visited Woodson next, and, as the predictions indicated, Woodson was downed 58-34.

In a double header with Edison, February 15 and 16, the teams broke even with scores of 66-61 (Woodson victory) and 60-55 (Edison victory).

In the sixteenth game Woodson visited parochial Episcopal and was soundly defeated 58-35. In a make-up game with George Mason, the Cavaliers sought vengeance after having been defeated once by the team and defeated the Mustangs 54-46.

After many weeks and months of waiting, the team received their first chance to play a home game; however, the occasion was spoiled for the Mount Vernon Majors 46-42.

Mr. Jenkins, Varsity coach, set a fine foundation for the teams of the future as the team posted a 9-9 record for the season. Named outstanding player of the year, Bill Perry was high-point scorer averaging 11.7 points per game. Don Celec was the star rebounder averaging 8.4 per game with a 131 total. J. V. BASKETBALL the students were drawn together

The Junior Varsity Basketball Squad deserves praise and recognition for taking a largely inexperienced group and forming a victorious team.

The first two games, against Fairfax and Washington-Lee, were won by fairly large margins. Then came decided victories over Herndon and Marshall, with 12-point leads in each.

After a victory over George Mason the Cavaliers suffered their first defeat at the hands of Lee. Next came a victory over Edison and a loss, by 1 point, to Falls Church. The final loss came after three wins . . . from then on . . . only victories. The season ended with a 15 point victory over Edison and a 9 point victory over George Mason.

Strong lays it up for two points.

With high hopes and spirit the freshman basketball team, coached by Mr. Witt, got off to a strong start by defeating Fairfax, 42-38. Hard practice and increasing skill enabled them to win their games over Edison, Marshall and St. Stephans. Led by Bob Lueke and Bob Montando, the freshmen Cavaliers displayed the spirit which will make them an asset to next year's Junior Varsity team.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team carried the skill, honor, and enthusiasm of The W. T. Woodson High School to every game. The opposing teams and unfamiliar courts presented no barrier to the team's spirit. Miss Gibson along with Merry Staser and Stephanie Issitt worked together to develop the unity, sportsmanship, and co-operation of a top rate team.

The Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball Team burst forth this year with the enthusiasm and determination of a team with a job to do. With the coaching of Miss LeGarde and the leadership of co-captains Connie Walter and Nola Masterson, the team developed itself into a unit, prepared to conquer all. With a season of 6 wins and 6 losses, each girl looks back with pride and satisfaction.

Woodson's first match was lost to Wakefield, 35-10. This first defeat inspired the team to harder practice and it forged ahead, to victory, ending the season with a 9-1 record.

VARSITY TRACK

Track gave thrills

The fact that our track facilities were not yet completed this season did not seem to hinder the first Cavalier track team. The school's corridors and front parking lot served as a substitute track field. Coaches Volrath and Billak guided the boys through a fairly successful season. Although the boys had the handicap of being a younger and less experienced team, they still made an impressive showing.

Next year when Woodson has one of the finest track facilities in Northern Virginia, we hope that the boys will show the same spirit and willingness that they have shown this year.

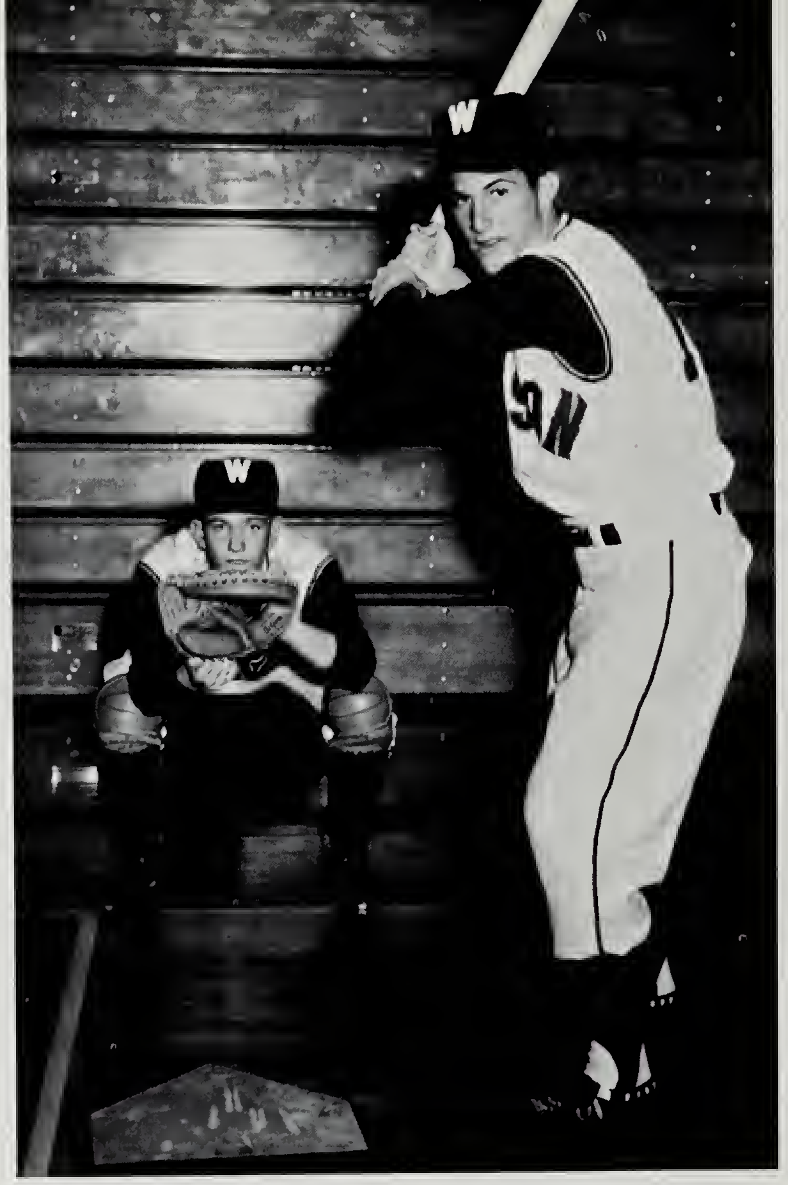
VARSITY BASEBALL

Throughout the year, The W.T.W.'s team spirit was displayed in all athletics by faithful attendance to practices and whole-hearted efforts on the fields and on the courts. Baseball was no exception.

The team had an advantage over the other new schools by the inheritance of three lettermen from other Northern Virginia Schools. On the basis of past experience, two of them were selected co-captains, and the third served to add batting strength throughout the season.

Coach Lehman worked to create a first-rate team by drilling each individual to the utmost in precision timing, quick thinking, and skilled movement.

Although Woodson was not eligible for the area championship this year, Mr. Lehman expects next year's team to be a strong contender for the title.



"Right over the plate," says Greg DeHaven as Kevin Boyle catches.

The J.V. Baseball team, under the coaching of Mr. Knupp, developed into a well-rounded squad. The team suffered a disadvantage as far as practice fields were concerned. Whenever there was a nearby practice field, the varsity team got the first choice and the J.V. had to do the best they could; however, in spite of these problems, the team kept their spirit and enthusiasm high.

GIRLS' VARSITY SOFTBALL

Coached by Miss Poarch, players on Woodson's first softball team soon displayed their sportsmanship and enthusiasm. Long hours of practice enabled the girls to improve individual skills and united them into a powerful team. Providing the hub for next year's Varsity squad, the girls showed the results of practice at their games.

Pat Ross prepares for the pitch.

Stephanie Issitt gets ready to wham a homer.

After competitive tryouts, the J.V. Girls' Softball team took roots and founded a firm attacking team. Afternoons of vigorous practice, calculations of batting averages, and advancement of sportsmanship filled the Spring softball season. With the fine performances of the Junior Varsity Girls' team, there was the certainty that these girls would add to a strong Varsity squad. They are surely deserving of the praise and honor placed on them by their supporters.

Fellow Cavaliers,

Remember this year, the first year of The Wilbur Tucker Woodson Senior High School . . .

Though the year opened late, our spirit was quickly gathered. Coach Billak's football squad and Miss LeGarde's cheerleaders united our student body during the all-important first week.

Our winning spirit continued in the Magazine Drive. Student Government-inspired competition pitted Barbara Phillips's Indians against Fred Livengood's Cowboys and put Woodson in first place in the inter-high contest.

Woodson was on the map . . . the Cavaliers came into being.

Saluting members from Iceland, Canada, France, and Peru with their respective flags, The W. T. Woodson student body participated in the first Flag Raising Ceremony led by the Symphonic Band and Choir.

In October the Pep Club sponsored the first social event of the year, The Hallowe'en Hop.

The Cavaliers celebrated their first Christmas. The Music Department made its formal debut in the "Persian Room" of the Marriott Motel; the homerooms participated in a door-decoration contest; and Student Government made tray favors for Fairfax Hospital.

In January the Spanish Club played host to ten Latin American students from Chile and Columbia. Later in the month at the Sport's Banquet Butch Smarr, Bill Perry, John O'Neil, George Moran, Bob Prouty, and Phyllis Dunn were presented their Outstanding Athletic Awards.

Students and faculty members alike rejoiced . . . the cafeteria was opened.

Woodson grapplers had a terrific season compiling a 9-1 record and skill on the basketball court. We closed the season in our gym with an impressive first season's record.

The Key Club–sponsored Ugly Boy Contest and Dance incited the Cavalier body to unite in the March of Dimes Drive. In March the Key Clubbers attended the International Key Club Convention in Roanoke.

On the Ides of March toga-bedecked "Romans" attended the Latin Banquet. Chris Zipp was among the entertainers doing an exotic slave dancers. During the same weekend the formidable Woodson triad, Dick Healy, Jim Mann, and Richard Payne, appeared successfully on WRC-TV's "It's Academic."

At the French Club Mardi Gras masqueraders celebrated a night in New Orleans and crowned Mary Margaret Marston and Paul Ramsey monarchs of the ball.

In the spring our four choirs took top honors at the District Choir Festival and performed at the Senate and Pentagon. And, in our first year Mike McBlair and Bob Garner were selected All Virginia-All State. Meanwhile, the bands took top honors in the Northern Virginia Band Festival, too.

The Drama Department successfully presented scenes from Broadway plays April 5 and 6 entitled "Odds'N'Ends" featuring the aspirant actors Bob Garner and Sue Hall.

Student Government elections and class elections followed the exciting campaigns. The Juniors had their prom and received their rings. The Honor Societies held their inductions.

This has been truly an outstanding year—Woodson's first. It as been our goal on the yearbook staff to capture the events and the spirit. Within the covers we hope to have bound Woodson and all her aspects.

Sincerely,
Ronnie Jean Bulson
